

Fitness for Work

Introduction

The Institute of Quarrying Australia and the quarrying industry at large recognize the importance of ensuring all workers, contractors, and visitors are fit for work.

By identifying unusual behaviour and health risk factors at our site, you will be able to effectively manage fitness for work issues that you may encounter.

Duration

1 hour

Potential Participants

Managers, supervisors and key support personnel are the primary target group for these webinars. There is a good opportunity to ask questions in an informal environment. Numbers are kept small to provide an opportunity for everyone.

Topics Covered

Mining legislation, Work Health and Safety legislation, and “duty of care” requirements in each State require quarry operators to ensure that no-one carries out work at the site unless they are fit for the tasks they are to conduct. This webinar looks at fit for work issues including:

- Drugs and Alcohol procedures
- Illness and prescription medication
- Managing human factors
- Exposures to hazardous substances

Participants will also be given practical examples of how small scale quarries have achieved significant safety improvement through effectively managing fitness for work issues.

Facilitator

Wayne Scott

The Institute of Quarrying
Australia

quarry.com.au